CSN Opens Its Doors to Future Students With Four Open Houses Across Southern Nevada

First event kicks off Nov. 7 at North Las Vegas Campus; media invited for interviews, live coverage and advance segments

Oct. 20, 2026 — What's next after high school? Thinking about a career change? Or just curious about what college could look like?

The College of Southern Nevada is inviting prospective students, families and community members to find out during its 2026-27 Open House Series, featuring four events across its North Las Vegas, Charleston and Henderson campuses.

The series kicks off Saturday, Nov. 7, from 8 to 11 a.m. at CSN's North Las Vegas Campus, giving visitors an opportunity to explore academic programs, meet faculty and staff, and discover educational and career pathways available close to home.

Whether students are preparing for life after high school, returning to the classroom or exploring a new career, the open houses offer an opportunity to see firsthand how CSN can help them take the next step.

The November event will highlight programs in business, hospitality and culinary arts, visual and performing arts, computing and engineering technology, automotive and more.

New Direct Admissions Initiative Makes College More Accessible

CSN is also making it easier for local high school seniors to take their next step. Through its new Direct Admissions initiative, eligible Clark County School District seniors are being offered admission to CSN for fall 2027 without completing the traditional admissions application during this initial phase. Students receiving a letter can confirm their interest by completing a short Intent to Enroll form by Nov. 13, 2026. The initiative also defers the $20 application fee, helping remove barriers and simplify the transition from high school to college.

With admission letters now arriving in mailboxes, CSN's upcoming open houses offer students and families an opportunity to explore academic programs, meet faculty and discover career pathways firsthand. Together, these efforts reflect CSN's commitment to expanding access to higher education and helping more Southern Nevada students take the next step toward their future.

About CSN: The College of Southern Nevada empowers our students and communities to achieve, succeed, and prosper. Founded in 1971, CSN is a nationally recognized student success leader specializing in two-year degrees and a select number of bachelor's degrees in specialized fields. Media Opportunities: Help Us Spread the Word

CSN welcomes local television, radio, print and digital media to help share these opportunities with Southern Nevada students and families.

Before Nov. 7: CSN welcomes opportunities for advance coverage, including live or prerecorded television and radio interviews, morning show appearances, community calendar features and paid or unpaid promotional segments. Faculty, staff and college representatives can be made available to discuss academic programs, career pathways and what prospective students can expect during the open houses.

On Nov. 7: Media are invited to the North Las Vegas Campus to capture event footage, explore featured programs and interview participating faculty, staff and students who agree to speak on camera or on the record.

CSN's Marketing & Communications team can assist with coordinating interviews, identifying program representatives and arranging on-campus coverage.

Media interested in scheduling interviews, promotional segments or event coverage should contact Alex@ErickaAviles.com.
